

Gaskets and Gasket sets suitable for Mercedes-Benz M 282

The M 282 is a four-cylinder petrol engine from Mercedes-Benz. The engine was developed in co-operation with Renault. The four-cylinder engine is an all-aluminium construction. The displacement is 1332 cm³. The running surfaces of the cylinders and the pistons are coated to minimise friction. The four valves per cylinder are controlled by two overhead camshafts driven by a timing chain. Due to its special shape, the cylinder-head is referred to by the manufacturer as a Delta cylinder-head. It is slightly higher, but is considerably narrower and lighter than conventional cylinder-heads.
